Spa Burglar Gets $11,500

Suave Thief Takes Furs, Cash At Two Swank Resort Hotels

An urbane middle-aged burglar who apparently was sighted in action twice Tuesday evening stole four fur coats plus $600 in cash for a total night haul of approximately $11,500, Palm Springs police detective John Herrera said today.

NEWS in BRIEF

HELSINKI (UPI) — President Urho Kekkonen of Finland left for Moscow today, seeking to keep his country's independence from being smothered by its giant Communist neighbor.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D.R. (UPI) — Jockeying for power was expected to begin in earnest today among the successors of assassinated ex-President Rafael L. Trujillo, the "little Caesar" of the Caribbean.

President Joaquin Balaguer, a one-time Trujillo figurehead who showed unexpected firmness in bundling the dead dictator's relatives out of the country over the weekend, was to meet opposition leaders Viriato Fiallo, Manuel Tavarez and Juan Bosch.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A delicate experiment in presenting the American viewpoint to the people of Russia will be undertaken by President Kennedy Saturday, when he gives an exclusive interview to Alexei I. Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law.

Commission in Budget Study

The city airport commission today discussed a possible $25,000 budget with a surplus from revenues for operation of the airport from Jan. 1 through June 30, Thomas Kieley, member, reported.

The commission approved a joint request from Western Airlines and the California Electric Power Co. for additional power lines into the airport for electric starters. The equipment is needed for Lockheed Electra planes scheduled to begin service here Dec. 1, Kieley explained.

A Nov. 29 deadline was set for proposals from prospective operators of the fixed facilities at the airport. The commission will finalize budget time limits during the Dec. 1 meeting.

Other matters discussed included a proposed three-year lease for the current airport restaurant, subject to cancellation if the building is abandoned.

Venue Shift For Modesto

INDIO — Lawrence G. Modesto, accused of killing two young girls here last month, will enter a plea to a charge of murder Friday in Superior Court at Riverside.

Judge Hilton McCabe Tuesday granted a motion by George Hooten, deputy public defender and attorney for Modesto, for a change of venue. Hooten contended that because of the high feeling against the accused here, he would not get a fair trial.

LONG WEEKEND WILL START TOMORROW IN SPA SCHOOLS

School district pupils and employees prepared for a long weekend beginning at the close of the scheduled day today, while city employees and other holiday celebrants throughout the area prepared for a holiday tomorrow only.

City offices and most businesses which will close for Thanksgiving

The suave six-footer, greying at the temples, approached one victim with a declined invitation for a social drink before burglarizing her room, officers said.

Victims were Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Lindberg, 2261 Fink St., Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, 1138 Hacienda Ave., West Los Angeles, and Mrs. Juanita Roll, Los Angeles. Both the Lindbergs and the Roberts were victimized at the Ocotillo Lodge, East Palm Canyon Drive, Mrs. Roll was in the Trinidad Hotel, on East Palm Canyon Drive.

$4,500 in Fur Lost
Dr. Lindberg reported that two mink coats owned by his wife, valued at a total of $4,500, plus six alpaca sweaters were taken from their room. Janie Smith, a hotel maid, notified police of the burglary at 9:28 p.m.

Smith told officers she had been told by the Lindbergs that she could prepare the room for the night at approximately 9 p.m. When she knocked on the door a few minutes after 9 and received no answer, she walked into the room.

The tall burglar suspect dashed from a bedroom, held the door partially closed and told Smith to return "in 20 minutes," she said. She notified hotel authorities and police of the incident immediately.

Room Looted Tuesday
Roberts called officers at 6:05 a.m. today when he discovered two coats, valued at $5,850, missing from their room closet.

Roberts said he had gone to the closet to get a blanket, saw that a full-length brown ranch mink, valued at $5,000, and a short Russian broad-tail jacket, valued at $850, were missing. The couple had been away from their room Tuesday evening until approximately 10 p.m., Roberts said.

Mrs. Roll notified police at 6:42 p.m. Tuesday that six $100 bills and a wallet had been taken from her room, apparently by the same man who was sighted later in the Lindbergs' room.

At 6:30 p.m., Mrs. Roll had been approached in the Trinidad bar by a tall, greying-middle-aged man who asked her to have a drink with him. She refused, and went to her room.

Just Wanted Drink
While she was in the shower, Mrs. Roll said she heard someone in the living room of her suite. She dressed and walked into the living room, and found the same man entering the room from the kitchen. He said he just wanted to have a drink with her. She told him to leave, before she called police.

As soon as the man left her suite, Mrs. Roll discovered her wallet and $900 missing.

Trinidad Hotel maid Kendrick Arlie told officers she had been approached by the man outside Mrs. Roll's room. The man told her that "my wife is asleep in there, and I don't want to wake her for him."

BULLETIN

WHITTIER — Aubrey Wardman, 84, donor of the property site of Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital in Desert Hot Springs died at his home here last night. In addition to the hospital site, Wardman also donated $90,000 to a new hospital building. Services are tentatively set for Saturday.

Guilty Plea To Spying For U.S.

Claim American Intelligence Duplicated Them

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two young West Berliners pleaded guilty today to charges of spying for the United States while on a trip through the Soviet Union. One of them said they were duped and pressured into their spy mission by "deceitful" U.S. intelligence agents.

Peter Sonntag, 22, and Walter Naumann, 29, made their guilty pleas at the opening of their trial this morning before the Soviet Supreme Court. If convicted, they could be sentenced to death or to jail for terms of seven to 15 years.

Under Soviet law, their plea of guilty to charges of a crime against the Soviet people did not mean their trial was over. It served merely as a point of departure for their testimony.

Sonntag was the first to testify, and he made his defense seem as though not he but U.S. intelligence services really were in the dock.

Wanted Free Trip
All he had really wanted, Sonntag testified, was a free trip to the Soviet Union. Instead, defense counsel Mikhail Grinev said, he was recruited into a dangerous mission of espionage by shrewd Americans.

Sonntag skirted over any suggestions of guilty knowledge. "The Americans with their deceit played an important role," he said.

"A great part in my doing what I did was played by the lying and deception of the Americans who, only shortly before my trip, set before us the true goal."

Planners and State Man In Meeting

The city planning commission, headed by Chairman John Miller, city planner Richard Coleman, and Harold Stone, director of public works, met at noon today with John Cogill, deputy to district state highway engineer C. V. Kane.

Cogill reviewed with the commission the possibilities of state work to aid Palm Springs development of better traffic flow through the mid-town business district.

Kane, who participated in the first discussions last month when one-way traffic flow for Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue were discussed, emphasized to the informal meeting then that the state "is not asking for one-way streets." Kane said the state sought only to "help Palm Springs."

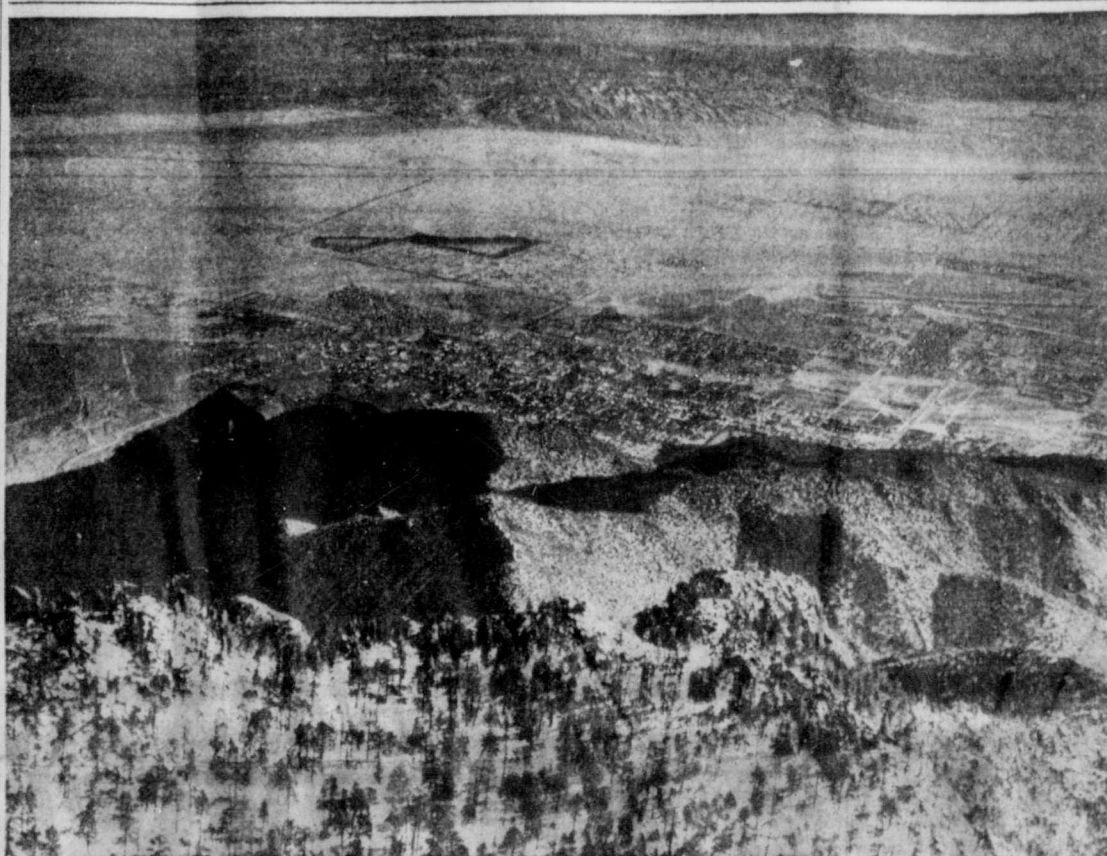

The noon luncheon meeting in the Holiday Inn was attended by news media representatives. The meeting was "public, but not a public hearing," Coleman said.

Sunny Weather For Thanksgiving

Clear skies and slightly cooler weather will mark Thanksgiving day in the Desert Empire according to the weather man's predictions. The high winds of Tuesday morning have blown away the rain clouds and the forecast is for sunny weather tomorrow.

There will be some gusty northerly winds today but they should abate by tomorrow.

TORNADOES RIP HOMES, OIL FIELDS IN TEXAS

Deputies Search Wreckage of Homes For Wind Victims

By the United Press International
At least five tornadoes ripped homes and toppled oil derricks in Texas towns and cities in a Thanksgiving eve outburst of further fury today.

The Texas twisters were reported at Cushing, Trawick, Looneyville, Kilgore and San Antonio.

Several persons were reported injured in the Cushing, Trawick and Looneyville blasts. Deputies searched the wreckage of homes for more victims.

The sheriff's dispatcher at Nacogdoches, Tex., reported "a bunch of houses were reported blown away."

Dusty Holiday
Elsewhere in the nation on the day before Thanksgiving, dust-laden winds and heavy rain raked the Pacific Northwest. Snow covered the countryside from Minnesota into Michigan, and New England was digging out from as much as two feet of snow.

Dust clouds were so thick west of Pendleton, Ore., that visibility was cut to zero and auto traffic was stalled. Summit, Ore., measured 3.94 inches of rain in 24 hours. There was 2.10 inches of rain at Eugene, Ore., and 1.53 inches at Portland.

The Weather Bureau's Thanksgiving Day forecast called for rain, snow and clouds for most of the nation.

California Clean
Only California and parts of New Mexico could expect sunny skies. Snow was on tap from northern Minnesota into upper Michigan and from the Dakotas and western Nebraska into the northern half of the Rocky Mountain states.

The forecast was for rain from the Pacific Northwest into Northern California and from Illinois and Tennessee into Michigan and New York. Showers and thunderstorms were expected from Louisiana into Georgia.

The new storm center, which left up to a foot of snow on Colorado's west slope, crossed the mountains and plains so fast that heavy snow warnings for Colorado, Wyoming, western Nebraska and the Dakotas were canceled. But they remained in effect for Kansas, Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Forty-mile-an-hour wind gusts whipped through flood and mud ravaged Southern California, toppling trees, but Tuesday's light rain spared areas hit by a damaging storm Monday.

U.N. Charge of Intervention By U.S. Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Cuba goes before the Security Council today to air its charges of U.S. "armed intervention" in the weekend crisis in the Dominican Republic.

The United States did not object to a hurry call from Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin, summoning the council into session less than 24 hours after the complaint was filed, but Ambassador Adlai Stevenson did remark:

"It is singular that the complaint against the United States came not from the Dominican Republic but from Cuba."

Raul Roa, Fidel Castro's foreign minister, was expected to fly from Havana to press the charge that the sending of U.S. warships to the vicinity of the Dominican Republic constituted intervention in that country's affairs.

Zorin called for consideration of the Cuban complaint immediately after Stevenson had forced adjournment of the Congo debate until Friday in hope of reaching an agreement that would avoid new Soviet vetoes.

Braving Cold Briefly Clad, Bugged Course

Palm Springs police urged one complaint to leave town—or at least stay away from the exclusive O'Donnell Golf Club.

The incident began when a William Ronald Fulton tipped officers to the fact that he had been tossed from the club. At least he was escorted through the gates to the public street side.

Larry Sitter, club manager, told officers Fulton wasn't a member. He had been wandering around the course for several days, dressed in a brief bathing suit, and carrying a flag.

"Apparently the gentlemen didn't want to be struck by a golf ball," a police investigator said. The matter was closed.

JFK. Adenauer Agree for Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 85, today ended their Berlin strategy talks in agreement that the Allies should try to negotiate with the Russians but not give away basic Western rights.

The three-day series of talks between Kennedy and the West German leader were climaxed by a conference this morning.

Kennedy told reporters as he escorted Adenauer to his limousine that the talks were "very good."

Later German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder told the National Press Club in a prepared speech that it would be dangerous for the West to renounce any established rights in Berlin through a negotiated agreement with Russia.

Schroeder said rights vested in the Allies as a result of the military occupation should not be replaced "by an arrangement under which the Western powers' rights would be based on an agreement with the Soviet Union."

He said such a development would be "a deterioration in the Western position" and added: "After our discussions here in Washington, I think I can say that the U.S. government shares this view."

'SIXTH COLUMN' GREATEST DANGER, PEARSON DECLARES

"A sixth column of bitter men is the greatest danger we face in the United States today."

So declared Washington news columnist Drew Pearson at the high point of a lecture appearance last night in the Palm Springs High School Auditorium. The controversial newspaperman was referring to extreme right wing elements that in recent months have displayed considerable strength across the nation, such as the John Birch Society.

Pearson did a "roll call" of generals and admirals whom he believed show disenchantment with our present way of life and inclinations toward taking over the government.

Rocky Joins Waning Search For Lost Son

MERAKE, Dutch New Guinea (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a father in torment, joined the waning search for his lost son, Michael, today after a flight halfway round the world by jet and junglehopper. He found little hope awaiting here.

The New York governor and Michael's tearful twin sister, Mary, 23, reached the Dutch search headquarters at this tiny coastal settlement in an epic 48-hour dash from New York.

At each way station—San Francisco, Honolulu, Wake Island, Biak and Hollandia—the news became more grim. But Rockefeller pressed on, comforting Mary and holding back his own emotions.

The search continued along the swampy coast where crocodiles and snakes and mudflats made human survival questionable. Michael had been missing there since Saturday.

The governor looked weary and haggard. He had off briefly at Biak on the coast to switch from his chartered jet airliner to a smaller plane for the flight to Hollandia and on to this search headquarters on the south coast.

Test Base Strike Loses Momentum

MERCURY, Nev. (UPI)—A two-day work stoppage which has stalled the U.S. underground nuclear testing program here lost momentum today under a Kennedy administration ultimatum to return to work.

Federal Mediator John Fenton said he was hopeful that a meeting would settle a jurisdictional dispute this morning between the Plumbers-Pipefitters Union Local 825 and the Operating Engineers Local 12. Fenton indicated he foresaw a back-to-work agreement by about noon PST.

Despite an order Tuesday from Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg to return to work picket lines were maintained at the main gate of the test site during the night. The ultimatum issued from Washington ordered seven unions back on the job.

A similar directive was issued from the plumbers and pipefitters national president, Fenton said. Goldberg warned union presidents, including both unions directly involved and others observing picket lines, that stoppage adversely affected vital nuclear testing and space programs. Goldberg said it also violated a nonstrike pledge to President Kennedy.

Coloane in Attack on Gov. Brown

INDIO — Gov. Pat Brown's administration was the target of a talk here Tuesday by Assemblyman Gordon Coloane of Indio before the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The assemblyman said California's business climate and the actions of the state legislature are directly related and that the administration is affecting that climate adversely. He charged that it is "trying to broaden the base of patronage to make more jobs to win more friends and more votes to return to Sacramento to spend more money."

Eleven new boards and commissions have been created by the governor's office and seven of these have no powers, "just investigating and broadening patronage."

Business and labor have a like stake in California's prosperity, he said, but that under the present program other states where taxes and labor are cheaper, will gain on this state.

Lutheran Rites Of Thanksgiving In Palm Desert

Hope Lutheran Church of Palm Desert will hold its Festival Thanksgiving Day worship service at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The Rev. E. David Natwick, pastor, will preach on the theme, "Pessimism Forbidden." The Hope Lutheran Choir, under the direction of Emile Nezer, will sing "The Hymn of Thanksgiving."

Smoke Tree Hit Garners Thief

TWENTYNINE PALMS — A total of $1,731 in cash, including $170 in coins, was stolen from the automobile of Bill Thomas, operator of the Smoke Tree Supper Club and the Patio, last Sunday night, according to sheriff's deputies.

Thomas reported the theft at 12:15 a.m., when a customer at the club informed him that his car door was open and a window broken. The automobile was parked in front of the establishment on the Twentynine Palms Highway in the Smoke Tree area here.

According to Thomas, the extra money was on hand to cash Marine Corps paychecks over the weekend. The thief, he said, was in such a hurry that he dropped a quantity of small change and left it on the pavement.

Some Burglars More Ambitious

Burglars are getting more ambitious, police reflected today.

J. D. Hamilton, Long Beach finance company owner, reported that a house at 2020 Magnolia Road, Palm Springs, had been expertly burgled for:

- A complete four-ton refrigeration system, including compressor.
- A hearing-blower unit; and
- One complete built-in kitchen range set.

The whole operation was neatly done, with proper capping of all pipes and indications of skilled work, Hamilton said.

Farrell Will Replace Swing In Immigration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today accepted the resignation of Gen. Joseph M. Swing as commissioner of immigration and naturalization and named career official Raymond T. Farrell to succeed him.

Swing, 67, a West Point classmate of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, had no comment on his future plans. His resignation is effective Jan. 1.

Farrell, 55, is a native of Pawtucket, R.I., and has been associate commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service since 1954. Prior to that he served for six years as head of the investigation division.

Farrell entered the government in 1927 as a $1,100 a year clerk with the Civil Service Commission. He became an FBI agent in 1932, shifting to military intelligence in 1940. He went into the Army as a major in 1943.

Warning: Lock Cars!

INDIO — The Indio sheriff's office today urged residents and vacationers throughout this resort region to lock parked cars as a precaution against thefts of materials from automobiles.

"We are beginning to have some trouble with it, and can expect increased activity until after the Christmas holidays," Sgt. William Pernet emphasized.

The lawmen suggest that movable objects be stored in the car trunks, or taken inside wherever practical.

Thanksgiving at P.S. Community

The annual Thanksgiving Day Service at the Community Church of Palm Springs will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the new sanctuary at the corner of Cahulla and Baristo Road. The Rev. Charles T. Brown, assistant minister, will bring the message using for his subject "Thanks." Special music will be provided by the youth choir of the church, under the direction of Dan Kammeyer, with Mildred Kammeyer at the organ.

Maryland Rites Set for Duncan

Funeral services for Francis L. Duncan, 60, a resident of Rockville, Md., who had been here two and a half months, will be held Friday in Rockville.

Duncan was a representative of the Cruziero Do Sul Aviation Co.

Cement Mixer In Spa Stolen

Police today are seeking a do-it-yourself enthusiast, with a purloined cement mixer and other with building materials.

J. F. Gallarini reported that a half-sack mixer, 40 inches wide by 48 inches tall, had been taken from a site in the 1500 block of North Palm Canyon Drive over the weekend. The steel mixer, complete with wheels, would normally require three to five men to lift, and would have to be taken away in a truck, Gallarini said.

The mixer was stored with other construction equipment for the sidewalk installation in the North Palm Canyon Drive improvement project.

MEETING ON MISCELLANY FOR COMMUNITY COUNCIL

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Civil defense, the Senior Citizen Village and television for the Hi-Desert were discussed at the second Community Council meeting Monday in the County Building.

Otto Risner, president of the chamber of commerce, brought up the community's need for additional stop signs or stop lights at several intersections that have repeated vehicle and pedestrian accidents. A study was approved.

Ralph Fisher, chairman of the civil defense committee, announced that a joint Morongo Valley civil defense meeting would take place at the Yucca Valley school, Wednesday, Nov. 29.

The council discussed various means of adding to the body. Several members suggested that clarification of previous community councils to disseminate to the public to "clear the air" for the new council.

President Virginia Hurwitz suggested that County Supervisor Ross Dana be invited to the annual meeting to assist in the council reorganization. She was talked down by council representatives Fisher and Jarman, who contended that the Community Council was most able to formulate its own policy without outside help.

Spa Chamber Urged to Join Overpass Fight

Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce was urged Tuesday to join chambers of other communities in protesting the proposal of Beaumont that 10 municipalities share in the cost of building an overpass across the Southern Pacific tracks at Beaumont Avenue in the Pass city.

Because traffic on Beaumont Avenue is often blocked by long freight trains, the city council of that city is seeking a bridge across the tracks and claims that other cities in San Bernardino and Riverside counties should share in the cost as they will benefit by the construction of the overpass.

Tuesday at Indio, the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Riverside County, voted to urge all cities to send representatives to the Public Utility Commission hearings at Beaumont Dec. 11 and 12 to voice protests against the planned assessment.

Send Food Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. medical supplies and medical experts are being sent to help flood victims in the Somali Republic, according to the State Department.

Only Eleven Give To Bloodmobile

Rain and apathy were jointly blamed for the slight donations to the Riverside - San Bernardino bloodmobile Monday. The 11 pint donation total was one of the two lowest in approximately 10 years of the blood bank visits here. Robert Henwood, Desert Hospital administrator, reported.

"We must have a better showing when the bloodmobile returns here Dec. 11, to insure continued participation in the bloodbank," Henwood said. He emphasized that "blood can be one of the best of all Christmas gifts — both to ourselves and for other persons who may have vital need of transfusing hospitals in the two counties, he said.

If Palm Springs loses its blood bank participation, persons requiring blood would either have to purchase it at normal blood bank rates, or make arrangements for individual donors prior to need, Henwood said. Continued participation here gives area residents blood bank usage in all participating hospitals in the two counties, he said.

Bob Hope, Man of Laughter

Compulsive Entertainer Million-Dollar Success

EDITOR'S NOTE — Over the radio, in motion pictures and on television, a man named Bob Hope has made millions of persons the world over laugh at his special brand of humor. In Palm Springs, where he long maintained a home on El Alameda, he has been the honorary mayor for many years, has appeared in most of the police shows and is a prominent figure on the golf courses. Also noted for bringing entertainment to U. S. service men in far off places, in war and peace, he is in England making a movie and celebrating his Silver Jubilee in the motion picture business. In a series of five dispatches, a UPI London correspondent traces the famous comedian's career through interviews with Hope and others.

By RALPH H. CUSHAM

LONDON (UPI) — Bob Hope probably is the only man who could walk into a hospital ward full of maimed men, say "Don't bother to get up for me, fellas," and raise a laugh.

He did just that in 1943 and it typifies the man who built a million-dollar success story around "Who was that lady I seen you with last night?"

Bob Hope, you see, is a compulsive entertainer.

Audiences are everything to him—his life's blood and his pocketbook. He performs with equal dexterity in the courts of kings, on the battlefields of war, on the sidewalk or the studio set.

He would put on a show for two Bahutu tribesmen in the jungles of Ruanda Urundi and knock himself out making them laugh just as he would at the Hollywood Bowl.

25th Year

This is Hope's Silver Jubilee—25 years in the motion picture business and 50 movies. To probe the secret of his prolonged success, I visited Hope on the set at Shepperton Studios, where he was making a "Road" movie, for old-time's sake, with his old friend and sparring partner, Bing Crosby.

This, their seventh "Road," takes the pair to Hong Kong. I found that part of his success lies in his ability to make everyone with whom he comes into contact feel that their appreciation of his humor is personally important to him.

In his dressing room, Hope relaxed in an armchair and explained it this way:

"Well, working constantly with humor, the way I do, I have to stay in the mood the whole time. If I ever got glum or despondent, I wouldn't be a good editor for myself."

"I'm continually running into people who are demanding things of me, expecting me to make them laugh. Like one time I was coming across on the Liberte. I was in a crowded elevator going up to the dining room and suddenly a little old lady turned around, looked right in my face and said: 'Bob Hope. Say something cute.'"

"Naturally, the people in the elevator roared, and I said, 'Avocado.' But it's pretty difficult being trapped in an elevator and asked to say something cute without your cute writer with you."

"But I can't go the other way, because I'll disappoint a lot of people if I do. I have one of those faces people recognize, you know, so when I go into a hotel, the bellhop has a joke, and the clerk thinks that on account of listening to me for years, he has a joke."

"And I kind of go along with their humor, and play with them. You almost have to. It's a chore the other way. You're liable to snub somebody, walk away and say to yourself later, 'Now what did I do that for?'"

Oldest Friend

Another facet of Hope's success was explained by one Bing Crosby, whom Hope refers to as "my oldest friend."

"I'm lucky," Hope said, "not many people have friends that old."

Despite their bantering rivalry, the bond of friendship between these two is extraordinarily strong. Strong enough, in fact, to survive eleven weeks of living under the same roof, with their respective families, in a large country house in Wentworth, Surrey.

"I've never before spent so much time under the same roof with Crosby," Hope said, "and I think it gave us a chance to get to know each other even better than we do already."

"For instance, I found out that he really does sing in the bath."

Hope and Crosby first got together on the bill at the Capitol Theater, New York in 1932, and became friends immediately. Since then, Crosby has watched, and to a great extent been a part of, Hope's rise to fame.

Crosby explained: "I think there's a tremendous drive within Bob. He's been Number One, he's been one of the top comedians for years and would dislike ever to see himself displaced from that position."

"That's why he drives and works and keeps current on the trends of humor and jokes."

"The work and the laughter of the audiences, their approval and their applause, to him is a stimulant."

"I've worked a lot with Bob when he's been tired and exhausted; we've traveled on long trips and arrived at the theater and I know he's tired."

"But when he walks out onto that stage and gets that first big laugh, that first round of applause, the fatigue seems to leave him and he's right back on the ball again."

"He's on his toes and he's flying." (Next: Hope tells how it all started.)

Anza Chamber's Road Request To Planners

A road request by the Anza Valley Chamber of Commerce, backed by petitions with over 100 signatures, has been referred by the board of supervisors to the road and planning departments for study and report. The Anzans said lack of roads is handicapping development of the area.

Improvements requested include a road through Bautista Canyon as the most direct route to Hemet. It would cut the distance from 38 miles to 29 miles and save considerable time in transporting students from Anza to Hemet High and Junior High, according to the petitioners.

Raise Voted For County Officers

Salary increases recommended by Administrative Officer Robert Andersen and Personnel Director Donald Spencer for elected department heads of the county have been approved by a four-to-one vote of the board of supervisors, with only Supervisor William ones dissenting.

The increase is the first for those approved in 1957 for which the effective date was January of 1959. Spencer said the average in over the same period of time has been approximately 16 per cent.

Supervisor Fred McCall suggested but did not insist that the proposed increases be cut in half. "I've talked to some of my people and they suggested a compromise," he said.

"I think a good job has been done in analyzing the need for these increases," said Supervisor George Berkey. "If we don't treat elected officials equitably, a feeling of resentment can be generated against this board," he warned. "This could break down the teamwork which is essential between the department heads and the board. I think they have the raises coming to them and it will be a good basis on which to demand results and expect cooperation and extra efforts to be of service."

The commencement date for the increases is not until January of 1963 and the salaries will continue for a four-year period until January 1967, because of a law which prohibits a change in salary during a term of office (four years).

Salaries of the tax collector, treasurer, coroner, recorder and county clerk will be increased from $850 to $1,050 per month ($10,200 to $12,600 per year); the salary of the assessor from $850 to $1,175 ($10,200 to $14,100); auditor controller from $950 to $1,175 ($11,400 to $14,100); and sheriff from $1,100 to $1,375 per month ($13,200 to $16,500 per year).

DESERT AREA CONSTRUCTION OF HALF-MILLION DOLLARS

A new 30-unit motel and a fallout shelter featured the listings last week in the building permits issued in the desert area. Over half a million dollars worth of building was involved in the listings.

The Palm Desert area topped the listings with a total of $192,041, boosted by the new 50-unit motel there planned on Highway 111 by T. E. Rudd. Building figure for the motel was listed as $142,503.

A fallout shelter, to cost $5,500, was applied for on Palm Springs Mesquite Avenue; two swimming pools in Cathedral City and one in Palm Springs, each valued at $3,000, also were applied for last week.

Palm Springs Trailer Rancho on Peterson Road in Cathedral City topped that area's permit listings. A total of $168,110 was indicated for a recreation building and office ($30,640), utility building ($11,470) and sites for 126 trailers ($126,000).

Top individual home buildings listed included one for a $23,500 residence by R. C. Jones at 73-270 Riata Trail, and another for a $20,000 home by Cedric Horn of 45-400 Indian Wells Road, both in the Palm Desert area.

Five dwellings, each valued at $13,000, will be put up at 3353-3359 Camino Rojos in Palm Springs by the K & F Enterprises, Inc.

Breakdown of the total building by areas is as follows: Palm Desert area, $192,041; Bermuda Dunes area, $6,737; Rancho Mirage area, $1,873; Cathedral City area, $181,637; and Palm Springs area, $148,635.

CRAZY HATS and wild shirts will be the order of the day when Palm Springs Ranch Club stages its annual Night in Trinidad Party Friday night. Getting ready for the party, Iris Woolfidge tries on hats and attempts to make a selection with the assistance of Ron Nicol, San Jacinto Country Club pro.

Calypso Party on Friday

Always one of the brightest parties of the early winter season, the Night in Trinidad Party at the Palm Springs Ranch Club on Friday night promises to be even more exciting than usual, as Noel Clarke has planned more audience participation and more surprises.

Since the date falls the night after Thanksgiving and on a long weekend, the Village will be loaded with out-of-town visitors and this is the answer to the hostess' need for entertainment. So... Roy Bradley, who is back at the club, strongly recommends that those wishing a table call immediately and make reservations.

The normally western Roundup Room will be decorated in a festive combination of white and colorful linens.

Calypso Mac and his Calypsonians will come down from Los Angeles to entertain and popular Jeri Sullivan will also appear with the Bob Hall trio. Two sure-fire dance attractions will be the limbo (that fun dance that has the final couples practically crawling on the floor) and the Twist will be demonstrated and danced. It is difficult to imagine anyone wanting to leave this type party, but for those who do wish a change of pace for a moment, Noel is officially opening the Naughty Nineties Room that evening also. Hal Rogers will be on hand with the honky tonk piano and the bowls of popcorn and nicker sandwiches will be spread out on the checked table cloths. Those attractive Naughty Nineties girls in bright new period costumes will be dispensing beverages once again.

Among those already holding reservations are the Harold Becks, Dewey Carters, Paul Burdors, John Johnsons, Howard Derrs, Lauren Rowleys, and should there be a call for a doctor in the house there certainly will be for Drs. Karl Walz, Sam Salinger, Morris Steingart and Lance Hawley all have tables.

THE DESERT SUN

Wednesday, Nov. 22, 1961

Snow on the mountains, following the first real rainfall in the memory of Palm Springs small fry, brings a Thanksgiving touch to the desert's holiday. Mid-westerners who long ago gave their home states "back to the Indians," still remember that "frost is on the pumpkins and the foder's in the shock" bit... particularly the pilgrims who made it to the desert... and stayed here.

Mary and Allan Jones, who are occupying the old Al Jolson house, while their new home is under construction at Eldorado Country Club, will spend Thanksgiving here.

They have just come down from their home in the Trousdale Estates where they had an odd and disastrous occurrence. The night before the big holocaust in Bel-Air, the Jones had a fire of their own that burned all their clothes, melted down her jewelry and destroyed the entire bedroom wing of their home. It started with an explosion of their pool heater and was blown up by a 45-mile-per-hour wind.

Allan has slimmed down and never looked handsomer and is signed to do a role in an upcoming "Perry Mason" segment.

They brought their two Tennessee walkers down with them and will be hitting the desert trails soon.

Palm Springs finally got a nice break in print. Many books have been written about it but few do it justice. Now comes "A Brighter Later Life" by Howard Whitman, that has five or six pages devoted to Auntie Pearl McManus in the chapter that deals with "Creativity and Fun After 60."

It starts out "Ponce de Leon sought the Fountain of Youth in Florida. An explorer in our time might have sought it in Palm Springs, California and succeeded"... not in physical form, not bubbling from the mineral well from which Palm Springs gets its name, but in "the eternally young heart of an octogenarian lady, from which Palm Springs gets its very existence"... They call her 'Auntie Pearl.'

The author writes that she still rides horseback and said he asked her if she also plays golf, and received the classic reply "Not yet."

Braved the rain to view the contemporary art and furniture showing at Palm Canyon Interiors, which donated the former theater room for use of our local Contemporary Art Gallery, and it was worth it just to see those paintings Earl Cordrey did in Mexico this summer. Some are sun-gilded like Mexican memories and some have the dark warm feeling of Old Mexico, like the market place scene.

Particularly impressive, too, is the change of pace discernible in Helen Abernathy's abstracts, which makes them even better than before. O.E.L. Graves had two of his early French-period paintings on display and one of his brilliant new abstracts, but saved his new porcelain paintings for a private showing that is being arranged. The new paintings are like nothing in this world and are nothing short of sensational. Those who saw Andrea Leeds Howard's porcelain in an earlier show, will know what they are like.

Peggy Pailing, was substituting in the hostess role for Vicki Malouf, who is still caught up in the round of Carol's pre-nuptial parties. Vicki had her lady on a carousel horse painting in the show, and Carolyn Summers, one of our really serious contenders for art honors, had a few canvasses hung.

Fabulous Furs in Show

Sables Mix With Brocade

Following a custom of many year's standing, Elsinore Machris bought the first fur sold, following the annual Furs by Courtney luncheon style show at Thunderbird Monday. This year it was the most fabulous coat in the show, a full-length sable coat lined with gold and white brocade.

In the parade of furs, one exciting new styling followed another, ranging from stoles to the full length coats an empress might dream about.

Under the heading of, "how casual can you get?", there was a sports coat of mink with knitted collar and pockets. For the woman who has been asking for furred costumes, there was a white chiffon gown, with sequined sweater and matching stole, trimmed with white mink.

The reversible coats were exciting, too. Like the white sheared beaver that could be worn inside out as a fur-lined brocade coat.

Different and new was the mink stole with satin binding along its edges, and the ranch mink coat that had a banding of white mink in scarf effect along its inner edge, and the stole with the skins fitted together in a sunburst effect.

There was a regent blue fox coat, with the skins arranged horizontally in the center of the coat and vertically at the lower part. There were smart sports jackets of mink, in all white or in beige and white, and short rabbit jackets dyed in brilliant colors, and even cardigans of warm white rabbit.

Shirley Brown modeled a puzzler... that was the new roulette persian dyed a mixture of red and black. Barbara Marx came out wrapped in a leopard coat and there was a hot pink beaver that made a change of pace from the many full length minks and sables that were on parade.

In the luncheon crowd watching the show which was hosted and commented by Winsome Courtney, were: Mmes. Sydney Schiff, O.E.L. Graves, Hortense Murray, James Braden, Austin McManus, Walter McManus, S. P. Manasse, George Barrett, Joseph Froggatt, McDowell Eastman, Paul Reynolds, Louise Nicoletti, Lee Doud, Arthur Coffey, Blanche Dulany, Earl Henderson, George Hearst, Glenn Austin, Harold Murphy, Gitta Alpar, Ed Robbin, Joel Stone, Harry Clatworthy, Roy Harlow, Lucille Nasko, Thomas Holland, Georgina Poston, Kay Karahadian, Earl Cordrey, Rose Livingston.

Two women, at least, brought their husbands to see the furs. Mrs. Phil Regan and Mrs. David McDonald. At their table were Mmes. Cyrilla Holland, Elsie Dougherty, Molly Lynch.

Thanksgiving In Coronado

Joyce Chapman and her mother, Mrs. Grant Chapman of Covina will motor to Coronado over the Thanksgiving holidays, where they will stay at the Hotel Coronado.

Mrs. Chapman will play in the hotel's bridge tournament.

Zeta Kappa See Color Slides Of Summer Trip

Members and guests of Zeta Kappa chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, enjoyed an arm-chair tour of the Arizona-New Mexico area, when Mrs. George Lamons, president, showed color slides during the chapter meeting held in the Desert Way home of Mrs. Warren Cable.

Following the social hour, the hostess served caramel doughnuts and hot chocolate.

Guests in attendance were Mrs. Don Bancroft of Palm Desert and Mrs. Carl Vince of Indio.

Copass Family Divides Turkey

The Jackson Copass family will make short work of the turkey, which will be placed on the table Thanksgiving day.

Dividing the white and dark meat with Pauline and Jack Copass will be their son, Jack Jr., their daughter Dianne, who is home from the University of California at Santa Barbara, and her guest, Terry L. Mesler of Vandenberg Air Force Base, and Mrs. A. J. Copass of Downey, the host's mother.

Mrs. Copass would be doubly thankful if her mother, Mrs. James Montee of Pasadena, could complete the family picture. Mrs. Montee is in Desert Hospital, after having broken her collar bone.

Woman's Club to Hold Card Party

Oriental decorations, added to the natural beauty of the Tennis Club, will make a beautiful setting for a luncheon-card party sponsored by the Palm Springs Woman's Club.

Members may bring guests to this holiday affair, which will be held Monday, Nov. 27, at noon, and Chairman Mrs. Harry Henkel says that, judging by early reservations, every table in the Bougainvillea Room will be filled. Parties of four and six are being assembled at the 50 tables.

Decorations and favors, furnished and flown in by British Overseas Airways Corporation, are both in Oriental theme, and a number of prizes will be given at this benefit affair.

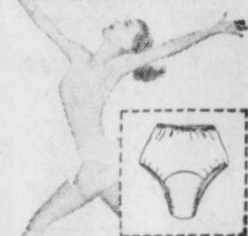

An exceptionally fine luncheon has been planned, followed by an afternoon of bridge or canasta. Donations are five dollars each.

Reservations should be made not later than today by calling Mrs. Henkel or Mrs. Charles Greason.

Ohio Team Slight Mercy Bowl Choice

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bowling Green University and Fresno State College, both champions in their sections of the country, meet Thanksgiving Day in the Mercy Bowl football game in what is expected to be a hard-fought battle between two well drilled teams.

Although the game is for the benefit of the Cal Poly plane crash victims, neither team was taking the contest lightly as a charity affair. Bowling Green, which moved out of the small college class last year, was a slight favorite.

But the Fresno State Bulldogs have met and conquered teams that are not small colleges and rank among their victims such strong foes as San Jose State, Abilene Christian, University of the Pacific and Montana State.

Dr. Ferron C. Losee of Los Angeles State College, the game director, estimated upwards of 50,000 may witness the Mercy Bowl game and the ticket sale could exceed 70,000 because of the cause for which the game is being played.

Bowling Green goes into the game with a record of eight wins and a single point loss to powerful Miami of Ohio and captured the Mid-American conference championship. The Falcons gave up only 47 points and no team has been able to score more than one touchdown against them. Even Miami was held to one touchdown although winning 7-6.

Among those falling before Bowling Green were such known foes as West Texas State, Ohio University and Southern Illinois as the Falcons rolled up 188 points.

Fresno state is 9-0 for the season and the explosive bulldogs have scored 256 points against 119 for their opponents. Their closest win was a 20-19 victory over University of the Pacific.

Fresno State won the California Collegiate Athletic association championship for the third straight year.

Russ Hepner leads the Falcons ground attack and has piled up 595 yards on 124 carries for an average of 4.8 yards per carry. Although primarily a running team, quarterback Jim Potts has completed 38 out of 74 passes for five touchdowns and 557 yards.

Bowling Green, however, is most famed for its rugged defense which has held its foes to an average of 2.4 yards per play rushing and has given up a net total of only 789 yards while the falcons were running up 2126 yards on the ground.

PIMLICO TRIPLE

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Exterminator was the only race horse to score a "triple" in stakes races at Pimlico. He won the Pimlico Cup in 1919-20-21 at the Maryland track.

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Feminine pro Gloria Ficht agrees that all golfers should be careful about picking targets for various shots on any course.

EVERY GOLFER, from novice to champion, has missed many shots through being fooled by the numerous optical illusions on the course.

"The inspiring views, particularly as the slanting sun throws long shadows across the velvety smooth turf, can be as deceiving as the beautiful face of an evil woman," said a prominent editor and author, the late Ward Greene.

"Jimmy" was thinking of shots he had missed simply through misjudging the line or distance. The best way to avoid being fooled by these illusions is to follow the procedure used by most of the tournament pros.

First determine the proper direction by experimenting with shots in different directions. Having done this it is relatively easy to learn how much carry is needed in the flight of the shot, also how much and in what direction the ball will roll. Try this first with short shots.

BOB ROSBURG will be among more than 50 top-flight pros who will tee off in Bermuda Dunes Country Club's 3rd annual Pro-Member-Guest Invitational Tournament Saturday. The 36-hole best ball foursome event will find such links artists as Lloyd Mangrum, Walter Burkemo, Frank Siranahan, Ellisworth Vines, Jerry Priddy, Tommy Jacobs, Jack Konecker, Jim Ferrier, Dale Andreason and Zel Eaton vying for top honors, which last year went to the Paul Runyon foursome. Celebrities slated to assault par at Bermuda Dunes' picturesque, rolling-contour course will be headed by Phil Harris and Desi Arnaz.

Purchase of Salton Sea Rescue Boat Stirs Rumpus

RIVERSIDE — Frank Richey of Hemet, a member of the county fish and game commission, observed Monday that the board of supervisors is using the commission's funds derived from fines for the purchase of a $6,000 boat to be used on Salton Sea without having consulted the commission. "We're not criticizing the board," he said, "Our only complaint is the extraction of money from our funds without consulting us."

Supervisor George Berkey explained that $5,000 had been put in the sheriff's budget for purchase of a boat for Salton Sea patrol and rescue work, but that in the board's frantic efforts to reduce the budget it had been cut out.

"We noted that the fish and game commission, as well as the sheriff, is interested in patrolling the sea," said Berkey. "This had been proved by a previous request, which was granted, for a smaller boat for fish and game purposes. We noted also that the F & G had unbudgeted funds, so we decided to use them for a boat which could serve both the commission and the sheriff's need for foursome score was 56.

Richey said the small boat purchased for the F & G is now at the state park on the north shore of the sea. He agreed that an additional boat could be used on the sea, but said he had had in mind a $1,500 boat rather than a $6,000 boat. He said another small boat, to be stationed on the west shore, would serve the F & G purposes, whereas the $6,000 boat can't be used in the shoal grass areas of the sea.

The principal reason for purchase of the larger boat is for use as a rescue boat. The board of supervisors has been repeatedly urged by Coachella Valley organizations to buy a boat suitable for rescue work. The one which has been purchased, though not yet delivered, is approved for Coast Guard use in rough seas.

Potts, Mayerson Win Miniature Golf Play

L. C. Potts and Ed Meyerson tied in 54 holes of Putt Putt golf last night on a wet course in the fifth night of league play. Both scored 102.

The dampness caused bogies and double bogies for most players, especially on the 14th. Ken Singletary came in second place with a 106, with Clarence Mroch next at 107.

Kegler's Korner

Industrial League action at PS Bowl last night saw two blankings as El Jacal and Kings Construction won 4-0 matches, while DHS Fire department was able to salvage only one game against Fred's Texaco, 1-3. Chuck Foster took high series and game at 555 and 224.

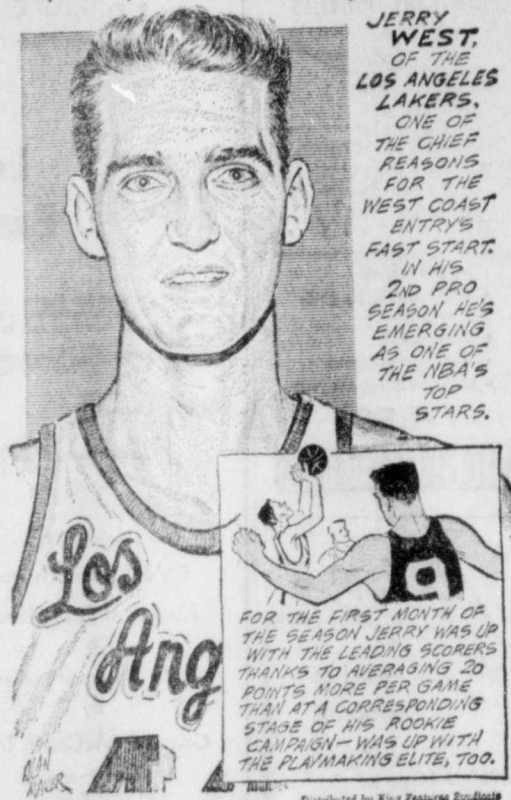

In the Franchise League, Hoams Pools and Oasis Plumbing won 3-1 matches while Chucks Welding and Local 73 split 2-2. High series went to Gary Fishbein with 531 and Pappy Hubbs won high game at 205.

In the Coral Handicap at PS Lanes, Card Castle won on a forfeit and Security Bank, Desert Air Conditioning, and teams 13 and nine were all 3-1 winners. Turkey winners were Jimmy Morton and Beverly Perkins, with high series for men by Les Shaw with 631 and by Helen Specht for the women at 449.

Ray Valdez had men's high in the City Employees League at 531, while high series for women went to Bev Russell at 484.

In the Desert Siders League, the Slow Rollers edged into first place by beating team two's Outsiders. Only two points separated the top three teams. Hal Fleishman's 531 was a top score for the night.

Frank Robinson Named National League MVP

BOSTON (UPI) — Frank Robinson, whose slashing bat helped to power the Cincinnati Reds to their first pennant since 1940, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player of the year today in a near-unanimous vote by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Robinson, who batted .323 with 37 homers and 124 runs batted in, received 15 first-place votes and one vote for second place from the committee of 16 writers — two from each city in the league. The 26-year-old outfielder is the first Cincinnati player to win the award since 1940 when first baseman Frank McCormick was chosen.

Joey Jay, who compiled a 21-10 record for the Reds and scored their only World Series victory over the New York Yankees, received the other first-place vote but wound up only fifth in the overall tabulation. World Series performances were not taken into consideration by the writers.

Orlando Cepeda Second

Robinson's 15 first-place votes and one second-place vote gave him a total of 219 points compared to 117 for Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants, who finished second.

LA Loses Game But Keeps Elgin

NEW YORK (UPI)—If ever a basketball team had mixed emotions after a game—the Los Angeles Lakers certainly must have had them Tuesday night.

The Lakers had their seven-game win streak snapped by the late-scoring Detroit Pistons, 108-102, in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. But as soon as the game was over they got the good news that All-NBA star Elgin Baylor would get a month extension on his Army induction.

Baylor, second leading scorer in the league with better than a 35 points a game average, was held to 26 Tuesday night. He originally was supposed to report to active duty this Sunday but now has to report on an 82-day tour.

The teams were tied at halftime, but the Pistons broke loose for 20 points while the Lakers scored 3 in the fourth quarter. Rookie Ray Scott led the Detroit rally as the Pistons won their first from Los Angeles in four games.

Foursome's 56 Wins O'Donnell Choose-Up

Weekly Choose-Up tourney at O'Donnell Golf Club yesterday was won by a foursome including C. H. Nie, Carl Hammond, Edwin Nelson and Leo Owens. Best ball foursome score was 56.

In second place, two strokes back, was a group made up of Jack Lynch, Don Doud, Herb Foster and Durand Churchill. In third place, at 59, were R. H. Fleet, Jack Carmichael, Dick Cochran and Dom DeRosa.

Vada Pinson of the Reds was third with 104 points followed by Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates with 81. Jay with 74, Willie Mays of the Giants with 70, Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals with 43, Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves with 39, Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers with 38, and Jim O'Toole of the Reds and Warren Spahn of the Braves with 31 points each.

No National League has ever been a unanimous MVP since the modern point system of voting was originated 25 years ago but Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians was a unanimous selection in the American League in 1955.

La Jolla Polo Teams to Play Here Sunday

Club president Will Tevis today announced the host Eldorado team will meet La Jolla this Sunday afternoon at the Eldorado polo grounds in the first polo match of the Palm Springs' winter season.

Heading the local four that kicks off the weekly six chukkers of handicap polo is Bob Smith, a five goal player, who'll play number three.

Rounding out the team, which has an eight goal rating, are Tevis at number one; Ted Pierce at number two; and Dick Neville at number four. All three of these players carry a one goal ranking.

The action starts at 2 o'clock on the polo grounds which are behind the Eldorado Country Club. The matches are open to the public for a nominal charge.

Tevis pointed out that this is the first of the many teams that will represent Eldorado this winter. The top three teams will meet a visiting British team, headed by Lord Patrick Baresford, for three matches in February.

New Faces for Palm Springs

BIG TURNOVER NOTED IN NEW ANGEL SQUAD

As it stands now — but with some additions a certainty — a group of 36 baseball players of the Los Angeles Angels will arrive here in less than three months. And, although the team trained here last year in their maiden American League season, most of the faces will be new to the local baseball filberts.

Only a dozen members of last year's Palm Springs team are still with the team. The remarkable figure demonstrates the big effort which team General Manager Fred Haney has gone to in dealing for better players.

Probably no other turn-over can be found in the history of the major leagues — even with the records set by "Trader" Frank Lane. Haney has indicated all along that he feels the Angels must build on youth, both on the parent club and in the farm system. In making some 21 deals, encompassing 30 players during the Angels first season, he has gone for youth on every transaction.

Team Averages 25

The result is that the team averages only 25 years-per-man. Old-time member of the squad is pitcher Art Fowler at 39, while two share the youngest age, rookie first baseman Bob Johnson, and new pitcher Paul Mosley, who are both 18.

Only seven besides Fowler are over 30 years of age. They include Eddie Yost at 35, Steve Bilko, 33, Ryne Duren, 32, Tom Morgan and Joe Koppe at 31, and Earl Averill and Ed Sadowski, 30.

Most promising of the younger players are catcher Bob Rodgers, who is being touted as "rookie of the year" already for next year.

Tennis Club Prepares Three Big Tourneys

Three major tennis tournaments have been set at Palm Springs new Tennis Club by Mike Field, club professional.

The first of these tournaments will be played on Dec. 16-17 on the four courts at the club, and it will be an invitational for men's and mixed doubles.

On Jan. 5-7 the Club will hold the Senior Tennis Club Invitational Tournament, with players from all over Southern California in attendance. They will play 45 year and over singles and doubles; 55 years and over doubles, and mixed doubles.

In December the California Racquet Club of Los Angeles will bring 25 players — both men and women — for a tennis match and local players are invited to participate. The dates have been set for Dec. 9-10.

Field is new at the Tennis Club this year and he brings a fine record with him to the Palm Springs area. For the past five years, he has been tennis pro at the Birchwood Bath and Tennis Club in Highland Park, Ill.

where he built up the club from its beginning.

He has taught hundreds of youngsters to play tennis in Illinois and ten of them have ranked in the state, six making outstanding showings in the Western Lawn Tennis Association.

Although there has been little or no tennis activity during the past year, Field is setting up a top season this year.

UCLA Star in Offensive Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Star tailback Bobby Smith of the UCLA Bruins has taken over first place in the Big Five's total offense standings, according to figures released today by the AAWU.

Although the fired up Washington Huskies threw Smith for a loss of 10 yards net rushing last Saturday, he leads in total offense with 874 yards and scoring with 75 points.

Mike Haffner of the Bruins is leading the Big Five rushers with an average gain of 5.7 yards per carry, and Pete Beathard of Southern California has the best passing record with 39 completions for a .494 average.

Beathard's number one target, Hal Bedsole, leads with 27 pass receptions. Keith ensen of UCLA is the top punter with an average of 39.3 yards.

Television in Review

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—When our Pilgrims gathered with one accord for Thanksgiving they had to get along with tough turkeys and no television. We, however, have progressed to a point where we have better birds and TV, too.

And, as it happens, the two are frequently indivisible.

In honor of the Thanksgiving season, permit me to unburden myself by parading forth for an encore the turkeys that trotted into the living room from network farmyards during 1961.

We won't send for such underfed, gamey half-hour specimens as "Acapulco," "The Hathaways" or "You're in the Picture" because we are primarily interested in heavier turkeys.

We're saving our final affectionate squeezes for the plumpiest, most tender TV turkeys of the year.

In the drama freezer, we find such all-star, unfeathered, over-stuffed turkeys as "Jane Eyre" with Zachary Scott; "The Dispossessed," with Ralph Bellamy, Earl Holliman, Conrad Nagel, Albert Dekker and Dina Merrill; "Prisoner of Zenda," with Chris Plummer, Farley Granger and Inger Stevens; "Brief Encounter" with Dinah Shore and Ralph Bellamy; "Cry Vengeance," with Sal Mineo, Ben Gazzara and Peter Falk.

Over in the musical-variety compartment, I can still hear the gobbling and scratching from such heavyweight poultry mutations as

TELEVISION TONIGHT

TOP SHOW TONIGHT—Vera Miles and John Kerr are guest stars on "Checkmate" at 8:30 p.m. over CBS-TV. Zoe Komers (Miss Miles) returns to San Francisco from Europe where she studied art. She is separated from her husband (Kerr) who is a forger of art. Corey and Zoe had been very close before her marriage. Corey knew she was an unwilling conspirator in her husband's dealings.

Surely Our Climate Isn't Changing

The dyed-in-the-wool California sports fan is gasping and groggy against the ropes these days. It is a sorry state of affairs when there isn't a single thing on which to base a brag and blast off. Not even enough foundation for an alibi. Nothing to protect him from the jibes of the sports fans from elsewhere, chortling over the apparent deterioration in the physical fitness of our boys and young adults on the field of athletic combat.

It goes deeper than the mere loss of a game. While the collegians mourn when they are bested in the legalized mayhem of the gridiron, they always find comfort in the thought of a brighter tomorrow. But to the Old Grad and the synthetic alumni, defeat is more than loss of face. It is also a reflection on the beneficial worth of our can't-be-beat climate. It's a one-two punch thrown by the enemy.

Time was, and not too long ago either, when the youth of California nonchalantly disposed of everything that came their way. Remember Howard Jones' Thundering Herd at USC? Andy Smith's Golden Bears at UC? Red Saunders' irresistible Juggernauts at UCLA? The Big Red teams at Stanford? They were unbeatable. (Until the Big Ten signed that Rose Bowl contract.)

And when the people from elsewhere asked, wonderingly, what kind of boys we had out here in California, we'd puff out our chests and reply: "It's our climate that makes them grow big and strong in California."

That was then. This is now and Nov. 13 will go down as Black Saturday. Washington's Huskies came out of the north to polish off the Bruins. Troy went east and lost to Pittsburgh. Washington State ran over Stanford. Kansas really clobbered California's Bears. To add insult to injury, the Green Bay Packers bumped off the Los Angeles Rams in the play-for-pay ranks. The only bright speck in the murk was in San Francisco where the 49ers walloped off the Chicago Bears.

You can't alibi that the boys were in unaccustomed surroundings. Three of the games were on home fields, before home crowds and in California's own famed climate. The only game which was close was on an alien field and in wintry weather and that one was lost because Troy refused to settle for a tie, gambled and lost.

The collegians can vent their wrath on the coach and charge it off as one of those things. But pity the poor old adult fan. He has left the age of active bodily contact sport behind him and his greatest joy in competition was out-bragging the other fellow. He's weary of waiting until tomorrow. He's tired of being on the receiving end of the jibes. He has no more cheeks to turn. Not even enough to salvage an alibi or point out a moral victory. His spirits are drooping but will perk up soon. Somebody's bound to say: "Just you wait until 1962!"

There's Nothing in a Name, After All

It has been 400 years since William Shakespeare penned his immortal lines and, while all of them are quoted frequently, the one that is heard most often is that one about "What's in a Name?" It pops up in the oddest places.

One of the leading developments in building projects in Southern California and practically the entire southwest in the past few months has been aimed at the immediate past generation and the one just before that. Prime consideration is being given to those who have attained the comfortable and mature years.

There is an age limit to this, too, but in these cases it is on the minimum side. You aren't too old to enjoy these new developments but you can be too young. It is in direct opposition to the complaint heard so often in recent years—an age limit on the upside which was hurting our economy by denying work to those with the experience and know-how accumulated while growing older, but not old.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Battle of the Books Starts Campaign

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Two of the best bets to run in the 1964 Presidential elections, the Honorable John Kennedy and Barry Goldwater, are showing unmistakable signs of going into early training—they are inspiring campaign biographies. The score: Goldwater 4, Kennedy 2.

The President, to give him the precedence of office, is represented by a story of his war experiences and by a "Boy's Life" of him. The Senator is portrayed by his campaign manager, Stephen C. Shadegg, with a work due next month and subtitled, "Freedom Is His Flight Plan." Jack Bell of A. P. warned the Senator about another Goldwater book due next year:

"It isn't going to be a puff job, Barry."

Two Arizona writers, Rob Wood and Dean Smith, are on the market with "The Biography of a Conservative." M. L. Howell, a professor of American history, has filled a dissent called, "An Answer to Barry Goldwater." In addition, Mr. Kennedy is currently represented by a reissue of his own work, "Why England Slept." Mr. Goldwater spent most of his vacation on a tramp steamer from Los Angeles to Liverpool, pounding out an opus for which he was commissioned by the McGraw-Hill book department.

Edge to Goldwater
The advantage, if there is any, in this literary exchange goes to Goldwater because his story is less well known than the President's. There is another Goldwater gain in the proof that he can write without ghostly aid (which he'd have to do on a tramp steamer), because both the Senator and the President have been chided with taking credit for other men's work. My own scorecard would give Goldwater an extra point for his disarming frankness. Anybody who wants to know how much of his own writing the Senator does can find out by asking him. Mr. Kennedy hasn't always been so forthright.

This brings us back to Steve Shadegg, Goldwater's acknowledged collaborator, and now his authorized biographer. War and politics are such that when it's difficult to bomb the primary target, any target of opportunity will do. Thus Shadegg has been pilloried in the anti-Goldwater press as a Grub Street hack, a Hollywood scenarist, who will write anything to get some of the lucre at the disposal of the Senator's capitalistic backers.

Last September, however, Shadegg was one of four laymen elected by the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to serve on its National Council. It will certainly shatter some preconceived opinions about Shadegg to know that ghost columns and Republican literature aren't all that he writes. I have on my desk three speeches by Shadegg given before ecclesiastic gatherings, entitled: "God's Peace," "Where In The World Is The Church?" and "God's Time."

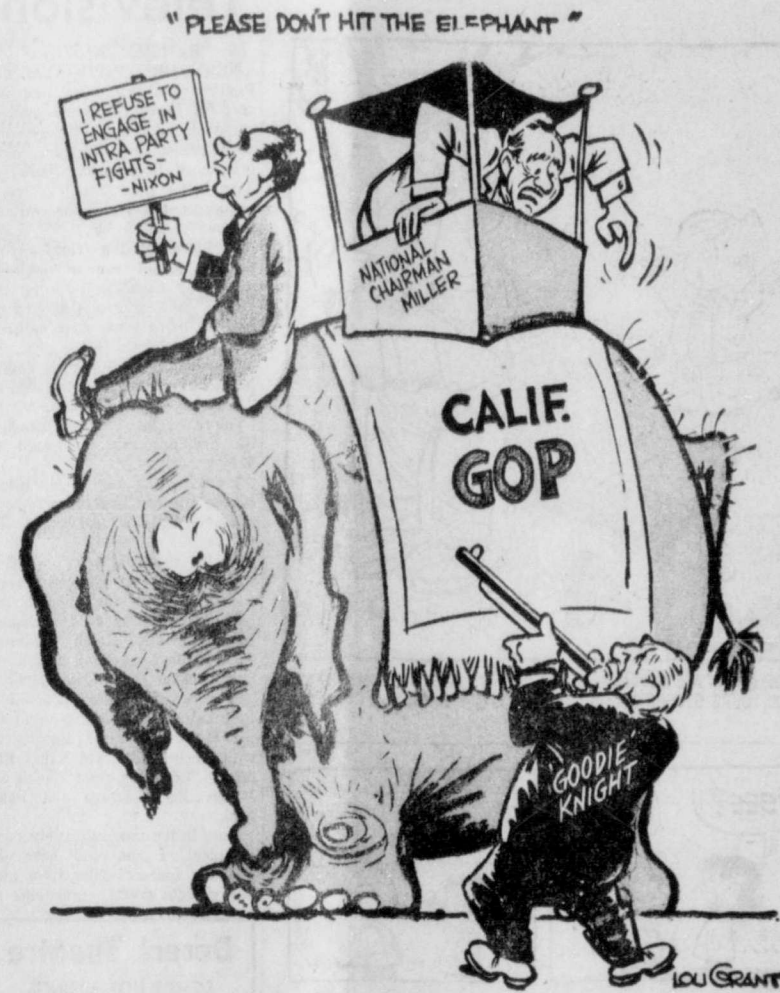

In addition to numerous civic posts in Phoenix, he holds church offices from vestryman to missionary committee chairman. From 1956-61 I find Shadegg has spoken on Episcopal Church matters far outside Arizona—in Tennessee, Oregon, California, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Texas, Maine, Nebraska, Minnesota and Washington State.
Like a lot of us, he was afflicted in youth with the itch to scribble. It took a lot of sales to low-pay magazines, radio and picture studios to reach the success which Shadegg now shares with a beautiful wife and four children.

Shadegg's Goldwater biography, which I have read in manuscript form, will draw many thousands of readers, who are entitled to have a truer picture of the author than the partisan press has thus far given. The same readers will read an unusual mixture of political pleading and romantic chronicling. It is too much to expect Shadegg, or any of the Kennedy life writers to date, to look for moles on their hero's face. But "Freedom Is His Flight Plan" takes us back to the Russian Empire of Alexander III and to Michael Goldwasser's decision in July, 1861, to leave the Polish province of the Czar in search of personal and family freedom.

It would be churlish to deprive the reader of following Big Mike, as he was later called, to England, California and the Wild West of Arizona. There the Goldwaters made good in the best pioneer tradition. When Big Mike's son Baron married the spunky eastern trained nurse, who had come to Arizona with lung trouble, we are deep into a fascinating family saga of which, I hope, much more will be written. Nor did religious tolerance have its last chance to shine in 1960. Clarence Budington Kelland, who has written hundreds of Western thrillers, says in the introduction:

"Barry Goldwater is of Jewish ancestry. It is a splendid tribute to the decency of the American people that they have not regarded this as a disability, but indeed as an asset of value."

Tomorrow's the day
For turkey and such
And I know darn well
That I'll eat too much

Thursday, Nov. 23 being the day that it is, I'm going to regret my Noble Resolve of last June when I decided I was going to be a middleweight instead of a heavyweight.

That "when I decided" is a face-saving phrase. I didn't really make the decision. The doctors did.

WHOEVER SAID "it's a dog's life" with the intent to convey the impression that the going is rather on the rough side, apparently isn't acquainted with any poodles or poodle-owners.

Some time ago there was a comment in one of these pieces about a silk-lined basket espied in a hoity-toity store recognized as ultra fashionable in class. It carried a whopping price tag.

HAVING MORE CURIOSITY than a cat, questioning brought the answer that it was to carry the poodle in, if his little legs played out.

Well, now I've seen more than that.

On display in a local store window with the hint that it would be a nice Christmas present for the pooch, was a traveling case exclusively for poodles.

IT CONTAINED a drinking dish and utensils for gustatory purposes, a wash cloth, towel, nail scissors, everything a poodle would need for a trip.

Next to it was a lined bassinet for baby poodles.

There are fashions in dogs just as in attire. They ran the range of Airedales, toy bulls, Scotties, Basset Hounds and Wire-Hairs. Now it's poodles.

Odd, but I'm still in favor of the feisty Wires even if the ones I bought for the kids turned all of the neighbors against me.

WELL, THIS PIECE started out with turkey, switched to dogs, so now for a gripe.

I don't like these odd-sized advertisements which seem to be the vogue with magazine publishers. You know, these stiff paper, almost cardboard, inserts designed, I guess, to make sure you see them. And the end of which sticks out barefaced and blank between two other pages at the other end of the magazine. You tear out the ad and toss it in the waste basket and the other end falls out on the floor and you don't notice it until you have company.

YOU KNOW THESE muus that so many women are wearing now—some people call them the great equalizers. Women all look alike in them, you can't tell if they're overweight, underweight or just right, a perfect XXXVI.

Some one told me the other day that they are Hawaii's way of getting even for the Mother Hubbards the missionaries put them into a century ago.

If that is so, it took the Hawaiians a long time but they finally got their revenge.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 20 and have been having a disagreement with my mother. She doesn't want me to have anything to do with a certain neighbor man. He is 33, divorced, and has two children. All we do is sit on my front porch and talk, and I don't see anything wrong with that. I would rather sit and talk with him all evening than go on a date with any of the younger men I know. Mother is worried about "my reputation" and "gossip" and blah, blah, blah... but I don't care. Is there anything wrong with just talking?—LIKES TO TALK

DEAR ABBY: Not a thing. Unless he talks you into something.

DEAR ABBY: I am growing more and more worried over the fact that I can't seem to get married. I am a good-looking woman of 35, shapely, intelligent, kind, industrious, moral, healthy and vivacious. I don't want to boast, but I can't think of one desirable feminine characteristic that I don't possess. Nearly every man I go out with wants to marry me. But I don't want to marry them. Everyone who meets me is amazed that I have never been married. I want to be loved, and have children some day, but I have yet to meet the man I could feel that deeply about. I know, as the years pass, I won't have all these opportunities, and

Remember When

NOVEMBER 22, 1951

California State Horse Racing Board decided that before dates are granted the Palm Springs Quarter Horse association, a public hearing will be held in Palm Springs.

Board of supervisors in a stormy session, voted to remove Desert Hot Springs from San Geronimo township and place it in Palm Springs township. Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce voted to postpone consideration of plans for one-way streets here.

NOVEMBER 22, 1941

Miss Madeline R. Cook was elected president of the Desert Museum. Albert Frey, vice president; Edwin F. Leigh, treasurer; and Mrs. Albert Frey, secretary.

John Hilton showed 15 canvasses, the result of a three-month sojourn in Mexico, at the Desert Inn Art Gallery.

Mrs. Charles Mathews, chairman, reported the annual Red Cross drive as highly successful.

NOVEMBER 22, 1931

Supervisors filed a request with the California Railroad Commission asking permission to install a grade crossing over the Southern Pacific at Edom.

William Mendenhall, supervisor of the Angeles National Forest informed local residents that no Christmas trees will be available this year. There are plenty of trees but they are needed for watershed purposes.

Postmaster Templeton set up a table in the post office lobby for collection of funds for the Red Cross.

All You Need Is Health And 30 Million Bucks

HOUSTON, Tex.—People . . . places . . . and Texans.

Thinking of going into the big league baseball business? Well, there's nothing to prevent you from starting a club provided you're a red-blooded American boy with plenty of drive, stick-to-itiveness and $30,000,000.

Craig Cullinan, owner of the Houston Colts of the soon-to-be-expanded National League, gave us a brief rundown on the fiscal problems involved in making a debut in the majors.

First there was the little matter of buying 23 ballplayers for $1,830,000. Then the sticky problem of providing the land on which Harris County's $22,000,000 stadium would be built. It won't be ready in time for the 1962 season, so the young sportsman and his associates are building an $800,000 interim stadium. The alternative was to play in Little Busch Stadium, left over from Houston's minor league days, and that simply wouldn't do.

"We want to do this thing big or not at all," says George Kirksey, an old friend from sports-writing days who now is general manager of the Colts—and Mr. Baseball of Houston. "We'll be the biggest success in the league or the biggest bust."

Bought Out the Minors
The new group had to pay the minor league Houston team $393,000 for the franchise and another $200,000 to the American association for drying up one of its prime outposts. The $393,000 returned some material gain as well as the ephemeral franchise—two minor league ballplayers and a batting cage.

Selection of the players is too complicated to go into here and now, but some hands cost $50,000, some came in at $75,000 and others at $125,000. It would be difficult for the average followers national league ball to recall their names. Sam ones, formerly of the Giants, is the best known player and perhaps the team's highest paid man at $35,000. But Cullinan, who looks and talks like a fine addition to the game, a kind of young Tom Yawkey, thinks the price tags were not exorbitant.

"The Yankees estimate that it costs $400,000 to bring a kid to the Yankee lineup," he shrugs.

Incidentally, Colts do not mean colts, Kirksey tells me. "We're named after the gun, not the horse," he says. "The team here will be the Colt 45's, eventually just the Houston 45's, and our minor league affiliates will range down through the calibers all the way to the Colt 22's." Who's going to dare stop a team like this one?

Marc Cramer has produced a TV show that should instantly be hailed by FCC czar Minow and every parent in the region. It is a weekly half-hour exploration of great events and figures of history entitled "The Magic Room." I caught Cramer's Leonardo da Vinci show the other day and it was positively enthralling—filled with working models and sketches of the man's inventive mind (the airplane, helicopter, tank, liftbridge, etc.) and lively dissertations of the story behind the story of Mona Lisa and the Last Supper.

"The finest television series ever to come out of the Southwest," one critic called it.

The problem is that it has not come out, as yet, for the rest of the country to see.

Sobering Statistics

In his inaugural speech before the Public Relations Society of America, Walter W. Bleson, director of public relations for the American Trucking Associations, rattled off some sobering statistics: In 1950, a Gallup Poll showed that 30 per cent of the Americans questioned had never heard of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. A year after Georgi Malenkov took over the reins from Joe Stalin, 48 per cent of newspaper and magazine readers questioned did not recognize the name, and 76 per cent could not identify NATO. During the Army-McCarthy hearings, 30 per cent questioned by pollsters could not name one member of the Senate committee, including McCarthy.

Hereabouts, it doesn't matter your family came over on the Mayflower. It's how many cows you got, brother.

Farm Output to Double

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—H.C. McClellan, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, predicted that the value of farm output in Southern California would double in the next 20 years. McClellan said he foresees the value expansion despite expected population inroads on the eight southernmost counties of California. His prediction was made in anticipation of the annual Farm-City luncheon Dec. 2, sponsored by the chamber's Agricultural Committee. The luncheon at the Agricultural Workers Housing Facility of Citrus Growers Inc., in Fullerton, is a local observance of National Farm-City Week.

Merchants Complainers About Parking Space

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A writer who has made a careful study of what today is a major headache to many cities—what to do with "downtown"—told a New York retail group that an investigator is likely to find more merchants than shoppers complaining about parking space.

Laurence Alexander, editor of the Downtown Idea Exchange, told the annual meeting of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, Inc., that it takes study ("not just another survey") and planned action to make a downtown area the preferred place for people.

Alexander said his organization had made studies, developed plans and programs in more than 25 downtown areas of the United States and Canada.

Parking for today's ever-present motorist and shopper is one of the factors that must be considered in any downtown program, Alexander said, but he may have surprised some of his listeners with the statement that it was amazing "how much less the shoppers complain about parking than the merchants."

"That is not to say parking is not important or is adequate," he said, "but shoppers who drive find out where to park: Behind stores, on-street, in lots, around the corner. They find a way."

"Strangely shoppers who never come downtown or who come by bus, invariably say downtown parking is bad. That is what they think and they have no experience which refutes the impression with the facts."

Alexander told the retailers there were many facts that influenced the attitudes of customers toward downtown shopping, and said it might surprise his listeners to find "that swarms of your shoppers come to you really by accident."

Yule Symbolism Has Been Changed

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the latter years of the last century, Santa Claus was a thin man, Christmas trees were always green and sleigh rides and hanging stockings round the fireplace were major ingredients of Christmas.

The symbolism of the festival included animals romping in snow-covered forests; children kneeling in prayer at bedtime; and the star of the east glowing splendidly above the three kings.

Nostalgically, this is the "Christmas of old" which many Americans remember from their childhood. Fond memories of the Christmases gone by often are some of the most heart-warming of the season.

The nostalgia and scenes of childhood are captured better than ever this year on Christmas cards that reflect the lavish Christmases of grandmother's day. The Christmas cards are

Cards Include Work by Noted Personages

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Many Christmas cards this year will contain the words and works of world-famous authors and artists.

As part of a trend to make cards each year better and more enjoyable, card companies have obtained the works of such personages as Phyllis McGinley, Pulitzer prize-winning poet of 1961; Helen Keller, whose works and writings have inspired thousands; the late Boris Pasternak; Karl Shapiro, Mark Van Doren, Archibald MacLeish, W. H. Auden, T. S. Eliot and a host of others.

Their special Christmas writings often are paired with fine art paintings by the old masters, such as Leonardo da Vinci, Rembrandt, Monet, Fra Angelico, Peter Bruegel, the elder, and others.

Many of their paintings are of the Madonna and Child, and of other religious topics, lending support to still another of our Christmas trends—to cards of a more religious nature.

Arrangements for use of the paintings were made between Hallmark Cards and Albert Skira, of Geneva, Switzerland, a leading art printer.

Miss McGinley, in a card devoted entirely to her poem, "A Christmas Legend," tells a fable of how a nightingale and a robin beat their wings to soothe and warm the Christ child in the manger.

Pasternak's "Star of the Nativity," also is quoted in full on another greeting, while shorter poems and quotations from such persons as Charles Dickens, William Shakespeare and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow appear on cards.

Phillips Brooks, a 19th century American bishop who wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem," captured the essence of the festival in a brief poem on another greeting:

"The earth has grown old with its burden of care
"But at Christmas it always is young,
"The heart of the jewel burns lustrous and fair
"And its soul full of music breaks forth on the air,
"When the song of the angels is sung."

Governor Sees State as Tops For Business

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has released an extensive economic report that he says "clearly shows the superiority of California's business climate."

The 218-page study, prepared by the Economic Development Agency, reported that California tops the national average in personal and agricultural income, population growth, labor force, retail trade and corporate profits.

It showed that:

- California grew annually by about 313,000 persons during the past 11 years. This exceeded the national average by 150 per cent.
- Personal income of Californians reached $43.4 billion in 1960, 23 per cent above the national average.
- The state's labor force increased by 40 per cent during the 1950s while the nation's rose by 13 per cent.
- State income in 1960 totaled $3.2 billion, largest of any in the nation.
- Retail trade increased 75.9 per cent between 1950 and 1960 while the nation's total increased by 49.6 per cent.

Channel Swim...

The Channel Swim: Bill Cullen is the host of "Eyewitness to Entertainment," a proposed new weekly series that is being pitched for the CBS-TV lineup. The format calls for taping a different night club performer's act from the stage of a club. The pilot, to be taped Wednesday at New York's Copacabana, will record a special performance by Paul Anka.

Gambling Fever Is High in Britain

LONDON (UPI)—The British call it "having a bash" or "running a spiel" or "doing a squander." Any way you pronounce it what they are saying is that they are placing a bet down on something.

Nowhere, not even at Monte Carlo, does gambling fever run so high and virulent as it does in the British Isles. You can bet on the football pools, the Irish Sweepstakes, two kinds of horse racing (flat and steeplechase), greyhound racing or bingo. Bookmakers not only are legal, but they are men of substance who go out of their way to make it possible for you to have a pleasant bash, spiel or squander.

Bet On Name

All these things are not enough for the British bettor. He constantly is seeking new ways of bashing, spiling and squandering, and that brings us to the Viscount Linley, 13-day-old son of Princess Margaret. Pools are being operated on what he will be named, and the official odds are as follows:

Antony (for his father) ... 1-2.
George (for the princess' father) ... even money.
Albert (for Queen Victoria's husband) ... 2-1.

Ronald (for his paternal grandfather) ... 3-1.
Jeremy (for Jeremy Fry, a close friend of the family) ... 10-1.
David (for the Duke of Windsor) ... 18-1.
Oliver (for Tony's uncle, Oliver Messel) ... 25-1.

It is traditional that the servants in the three royal residences—Buckingham Palace, Kensington

Palace and Clarence House—set the opening prices. The theory is that they may have overheard casual bits of conversation which will be of guidance.

Now that the prices have been published in the British press, the general public's money will start flowing in and the odds may fluctuate violently from day to day.
